BRAND CORE

WHY WE BE

There was a time before the Earth's green spaces were taken over by glass and concrete. A time when our ancestors lived off the land, gave back to the land, and handed down the land richer and greener than they had inherited it. We at Beforest have found a way to recreate that time, for the few who believe that this was a better way to live. And through our brand, our work, and our collectives, we're excited to share this world with you.

WHAT WE BELIEVE

We believe that there is nothing in nature as resilient as nature itself. And yet, today, nature needs helping hands to put back in nature's bank what generations before us have taken on loan. We need to restore the green wealth meant for our future generations to enjoy. With the science and understanding we have today, we feel that all it takes is the passion, the commitment, and the coming together of like - minded people to bring back to nature what belongs to nature, and keep it that way for generations to come.

BEING DIFFERENT

Everyone claims to be sustainable these days. We think it's time to aim for a level higher than mere sustainability.

At Beforest we believe that everything we take from the land is a loan from the future. And a champion of sustainability should ensure that our loan from the future is repaid in perpetuity. So that generations after us can continue to thrive alongside the environment.

We call this Perpetuability®. And this is the goal that drives us.

WHAT WE HAVE BECOME

What started as an almost evangelical movement with a few passionate founders has now become vast collectives, encompassing hundreds of acres across a number of states, touching the lives of communities and thousands of fauna and flora.

We are not just a company but an ecosystem. Like an ecosystem, we are not a two-way 'investment-in-return-out' machine, but an interconnected organism, connecting time, science, and people to create what we now like to call an 'Ecoverse' - where everyone earns their share of collective pride in what they have made happen for future generations.

BEHIND EVERY BEFORESTER...

There is a deep connection with nature. Either in childhood or in ancestry, there is a close bond with the soil in everyone who works here. We don't hire employees - we hire people who would have done what we are doing, albeit at a smaller scale, even if we didn't exist. They live the sustainable life not just in word but in action. They spend all the time they can in the wilderness, and they personally value what they have helped build with us: true 'befenders' of the cause.

BECAUSE NATURE NEEDS A MOTHER

This is why we do what we do. A role reversal, if there ever was one. Urban sprawl has resulted in a situation where now, more than ever before, it is Mother Nature who needs the care, concern, nurture and protection that only a mother can give, to give her the toehold she needs to rise and thrive again - and coexist with human beings the way she has for centuries. This is our role. This is our brand. And this is the part every member of our Ecoverse plays: a mother to nature.

BEFRIEND THE BRAND

Meet Vriksha
Strong and resilient.
Driven by conviction.
Extremely well-informed.
Fiercely protective of her own.

But all that belied by her simple,
practical and no-nonsense demeanor.
She wears light, solid colors.
She speaks when she's spoken to.
She avoids superlatives, exaggeration,
and hyperbole.
Those are the tools of the uninformed.

She walks away from confrontation.
She resists drawing comparisons.
She will never raise her voice - she knows that those who seek her out, will hear her even when she whispers.
For all intents and purposes,
she's immovable.

Except for one chink through which the warmth of her emotions shines through. When she speaks of the qualities of her children.
She will show photographs, she will tell stories, she will revel in their successes.

Because, through them, she lives out her life's purpose.
She will guide them, lead them, inform them, enrich them with experiences only she can provide. And when they succeed, she will remain quietly, stolidly, proudly, in the background.

THINK LIKE A BEFORESTER

Share our Founder's vision, reason and purpose for Beforest.

Vision:

To create landscapes that inspire people and support life in all its forms.

Reason:

Every urban centre experiences the same set of problems - traffic, pollution, lack of access to water or good food, diminishing commons, lack of parks. Whether you are in the driest or the wettest cities, the problems stay the same. When life's basic needs - clean air, clean water and good food have become a struggle, then something fundamental has broken down in the design. Is there no alternative to this structure we consider to be the norm? Can we create frameworks where communities live in sync with nature? Can we exist without exploiting the land? Beforest is taking great strides to answer these questions.

Purpose:

For those who are willing to take action towards a better planet, ready to make the more responsible choices, what stops them from doing so? Lack of time, lack of avenues, lack of know-how, or does life just take over?

Beforest is here to translate this intent into reality, inspiration into inspired action. By enabling this journey, we help this circle of action reimagine their lives, build deep connections with the planet and with each other, to help them play stewards in the true sense and create a landscape that strives towards ecological and economic resilience.

BEFOREST PROCESS

Every Beforest collective is designed to be a site of inspiration, a model that catalyzes ecological, social, and economic transformation at a landscape level. Our process follows a structured journey – one that ensures each collective is not just sustainable, but deeply rooted in the land’s natural and cultural identity.

1. Identifying the Landscape

The first step is identifying a landscape where a collective can make a meaningful impact – a place where restoration, conservation, and community-driven sustainability can come together.

- Selecting a region with high ecological potential and cultural significance
- Identifying key partners within the landscape – local communities, conservationists, and experts
- Understanding the larger ecosystem – analyzing village, district, and state-level context
- Developing a vision for the place – a goal that, when realized, can catalyze wider ecological transformation

2. Due Diligence & Structuring

Once a site is identified, the next phase ensures the collective is legally, financially, and operationally sound before launch.

- Legal Due Diligence – Verifying land ownership, rights, and regulatory compliance
- Structuring the Collective – Designing participation models, governance structures, and financial frameworks
- Acquisition Strategy – Ensuring ethical and sustainable ownership models
- Developing a Vision for the Place – A goal that, when realized, can catalyze wider ecological transformation

3. Launching the Collective

With a solid foundation in place, the collective is introduced to the world, and the groundwork begins.

- Partnerships & Alignment – Initiating on-ground partnerships and aligning stakeholders with the vision
- Seed Community Onboarding – Engaging the first members who share the vision and commitment
- Ecological & Landscape Studies – Conducting on-ground assessments of biodiversity, hydrology, contours, and land boundaries
- Concept Plan & Zoning – Designing the land-use blueprint – economic zones, mixed-use areas, and wilderness conservation

4. Implementing the Collective

This is where the collective starts to take shape – from land acquisition to setting up essential infrastructure and governance.

- Completion of Seed Community – Identifying and onboarding early members who anchor the collective
- Land Acquisition – Securing the identified landscape
- Team & Infrastructure Setup – Establishing on-site teams, utilities, and operational structures
- Monitoring & Evaluation – Setting up MEL framework to track the 4 Returns (Inspiration, Social, Natural and Financial.)
- Trial Plots & Baseline Studies – Testing soil, water retention, and agricultural potential
- Regulatory Approvals – Securing town planning, environmental, and governmental clearances
- Developing the Commons – Building shared earthworks, infrastructure, and staff facilities
- Scaling Agricultural & Ecological Restoration – Expanding trial plots into full-scale regeneration projects
- Member Home Design & Execution – Upon receiving approvals, designing and building homes aligned with Beforest's sustainability principles
- Developing a Vision for the Landscape – Mapping out a long term plan that catalyzes ecological transformation

5. Post-Implementation & Scaling Impact

With the foundation set, the collective moves into long-term sustainability – scaling its impact beyond its boundaries.

- Standard Operating Procedures – Establishing best practices for land and community management
- Launching Hospitality & Revenue Streams – Introducing low-impact tourism and sustainable commerce
- Creating Market Channels – Connecting collective-grown produce and products to broader markets
- Landscape-Level Transformation – Sharing learnings, engaging stakeholders, and inspiring regional change

MILESTONES IN OUR JOURNEY

2018

*Our first post about growing a food forest together.
A page that said: food forests, permaculture and community - Interested?*

2019

*Our collective in Coorg launched with 20 members and 3 possible locations.
We closed on Poomaale Estate - because it had a river flowing through it:
Our first experience of seeing potential to inspire, in an abandoned landscape.*

2020

*Our second collective launched using a land investor model - the Hyderabad collective.
Started as a 75-acre exploration, and eventually became 133.5 acres.*

2022

*On popular request, we launched a collective in Mumbai - a post saying, if you are interested we will come.
Also the same year, our Poomaale collective was fully subscribed.*

2023

*The Mumbai collective launched with 14 members as seed community.
Hyderabad collective fully subscribed.
Poomaale 2.0 launched as an extension of the Poomaale collective owing to overwhelming interest.*

2023 | OCTOBER

*A guest who stayed at our Blyton Bungalow in Poomaale reached out asking for a collective in north Coorg.
The Hammiyala collective was born as a co-ownership model.*

2024

*Our Bhopal collective was launched as an inward request from a land owner.
Initial dipstick worked and we went ahead.
Hammiyala collective pivoted to the traditional collective.*

2025 AND ONWARDS

How Nature takes care of her own

Bewild is the produce arm of Beforeforest. From the food forests we nurture and partner with comes a wealth of responsibly grown coffee, rice, vegetables, fruits and spices that benefit the planet, our consumers and the very landscape in which our collective exists. Our efforts have tangibly transformed watersheds, water tables, green cover and the human-earth relationship in all our collectives. This has been scientifically proven. Our produce business is built around the four principles of organic farming.

- Restoring soil health
- Maintenance of diversity
- Animal and farmer welfare
- Efficient and fair use of natural/local resources

Moreover, we research deep into the history of the land we farm, and only grow what is native to that area.

So when you smell the aroma of your morning brew, open a jar of honey, or breathe in the steam from the meal on your plate, you know it comes from a good place, In every sense of the phrase Coffee / Rice / Honey / Spices / Fruits & Veg / and more...

A tryst with the wilderness

In the hectic bustle of life, there are few opportunities to catch a breath. And when you do, we want you to be able to fill your lungs and your senses with the fragrance of the earth, the mist of the deep forest, and resolve to preserve a piece of this paradise for generations to come.

Belong is not luxury the way the world defines it - but a luxury compared to what the world of today offers. For every solitaire diamond, there are a million dewdrops sparkling in morning sunlight. For every expensive perfume, there is the fragrance of the forest and its secrets. For every plush mattress, there are acres of grass to lie upon with the sky as your ceiling. And for every moment of indulgent pleasure, there are entire days when time stands still.

We call this barefoot luxury: a getaway in any of our collectives where you open your eyes, your ears and your pores and let the luxury of nature into your being.

(The unique tone and voice of our copy)

Our tone and manner expresses our deep commitment, sound science, authenticity, and calm self-assurance in what we do. We avoid superlatives unless proven with data. We avoid hyperbole, poetry, lyricism and drama. We are not here to tease, trick or terrorise you into buying our brands. We speak in simple sentences, provide hard facts and information that awakens an 'aha' moment of inspiration in those who engage with our copy. Where possible, we let our images, infographics and data do the talking, and we simply support it with a deep-reaching question that stirs the reader's curiosity.

How not to:

Welcome to Beforest. Come embrace a lifestyle in the lap of nature, feel the grass between your toes, enjoy the fresh air, and let your mind drift into the peace of knowing you're also doing good for the environment, and for your future generations.

How to:

Welcome to Beforest. Let your passion for the environment converge with our knowhow and proven processes. Our collectives are not just a sanctuary for a time before urban sprawl, but a way you can ensure your future generations get to experience nature the way your ancestors did.

PHOTOGRAPHY

PHOTOGRAPHY NOTE

Our photography captures the soul of nature, blending its raw beauty with a sense of belonging. Each image is a story - a celebration of the landscapes, textures, and tones that inspire our brand's unique colour palette.

We seek out moments where light and shadow dance across earthy greens, serene blues, and warm terracottas, evoking the essence of the natural world. Our focus is on authenticity, with images that connect viewers to the shared experience of nature and community.

Natural & Unstaged:

Capture real moments with minimal posing.

Soft Lighting:

Use natural or diffused light for warmth.

Earthy Tones:

Stick to muted, natural colors.

Texture Focus:

Highlight fabric details and embroidery.

Candid Portraits:

Showcase people in action, natural poses.

Clean Backgrounds:

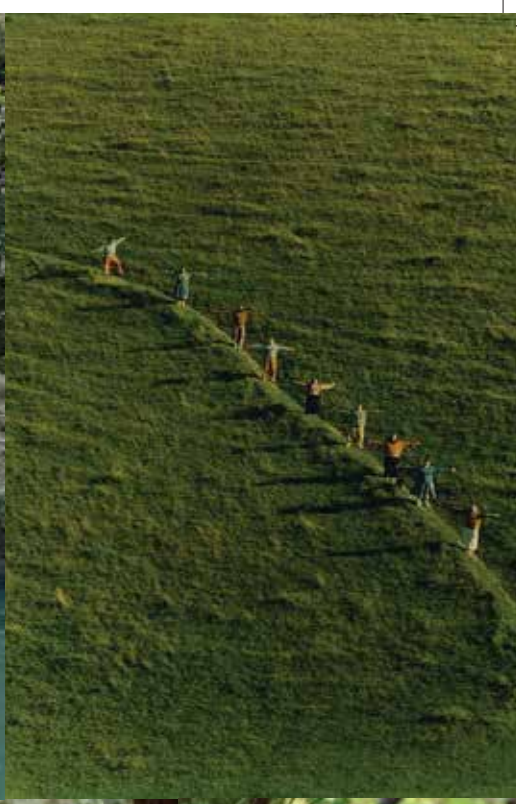

Keep it simple, preferably nature-driven.

Motion & Interaction:

Capture movement and engagement.

EMAILER

Our emailer design prioritises a structured template that seamlessly balances imagery and content. Each email features clean, well-defined sections that highlight visuals and text equally, ensuring both elements work harmoniously to communicate the message effectively.

Imagery is carefully curated to align with the brand's aesthetic, while typography and layout guide the reader's attention with clarity and intention. This style fosters a premium and cohesive brand impression.

EMAILER DESIGN GUIDE

Layout & Structure:

A modular design with clear sections - header, hero image, body content, CTA, and footer - ensuring a logical flow.

Typography:

Headlines are bold and concise, body text is easy to read, and CTAs are clear and action-driven. Generous spacing enhances readability.

Imagery:

High-quality visuals align with the brand's aesthetic. Maintain a consistent aspect ratio and optimize images for fast loading.

Branding & Colors:

Use primary brand colors for key elements, with ample white space for a clean, premium look.

Mobile Optimization:

Ensure a responsive, single-column layout, tap-friendly buttons, and readable text across devices.
